PREFACE,

In issuing the sixth edition of the PACIFIC STATES NEWSPAPER DIRECTORV, it is the purpose of the publishers, as in former editions, to make the advertising public, all over the land, better acquainted with the publications of the Pacific Coast, and in addition thereto, to embrace Colorado, Texas and the States of the Missouri Valley, in furnishing such information concerning the progress and prosperity of the States and Territories herein mentioned, as shall enable everyone interested to understand the importance and value of those sections as a profitable field for advertisers. Thus they hope to bring to the papers published in the territory represented a larger proportion of advertising patronage than they have heretofore received, and to which, it is believed, they are justly entitled.

In preparing our tables of circulation, etc., we have asked every publisher to help us to make the work correct and valuable as possible by giving us reliable information concerning his publications. If errors should still be found in the book, we ask that those observing them will make a note of it, and favor us with the corrections, which will be made in the next edition.

POPULATION AND TOPOGRAPHICAL FEATURES.

California extends from  $32^{\circ}$  20' to  $42^{\circ}$  north latitude, and between 114° 20' and 124° 25' west longitude. It was ceded to the United States by Mexico, in 1848. It is 770 miles in length, and its maximum breadth is 330 miles, minimum breadth 150 miles, the mean breadth being 240 miles. In the family of States it ranks second in size, Texas only having a larger territory. It has an area of 158,360 square miles, or 101,350,400 acres, more than three-fifths of which, it is estimated, are susceptible of cultivation, or may be profitably utilized for industrial purposes.

According to the census of 1890, its population numbered at tkat time 1,208,130.

Since the issuance of our preceding edition there has been the usual number of newspaper changes in this and other States mentioned in this work. The several industries throughout the State have largely increased, and in every branch and direction show unusual prosperity.

We give a brief description in the following pages of the several counties, with a tabulated list of the newspapers published in each.

DEL NORTE.

Population, 2,592. Del Norte lies just below the Oregon line, and its principal industries are dairying, lumber and mining. It embraces 66,562 acres of land, of which one-third consists of rich valley land. In the eastern part of the county mining is carried on to a great extent along the Klamath river. Assessed valuation in 1891 was $2,076,027. Salmon fishing is carried on at the mouth of Smith river. Crescent City is the county seat.

EL DORADO.

Population, 9,232; mineral and agricultural. A large portion of the county is heavily timbered with black oak, live oak, hemlock, spruce, fir, cedar and many species of pine, while the banks of the streams are fringed with the maple, the alder, the dogwood and madrona. The cereals produce good remunerative crops, while potatoes, beets, pumpkins, Indian corn, and all manner of garden vegetables attain perfection, both in size and quality. Clover, in wildest luxuriance, yields an enormous and perpetual crop. The apple, the pear, the plum, the nectarine and all orchard products of the temperate zone attain excellent size, flavor and keeping qualities. But though El Dorado now enjoys a high repute as an agricultural, horticultural, stock-raising, dairying and lumber-producing county, it is still a great goldproducing district. # FRESNO.

Population, 32,026; chiefly agricultural. Fresno, before the division, was the third county in area in the State, containing 5,000,600 acres of surface. The phenomenal success of this county is directly due to the perfect system of irrigating canals in vogue. There are now in operation 900 miles of trunk canals, built at a cost of $2,000,000—capable of watering 1,000 square miles, or 640,000 square acres. The annual product of Fresno's mines, her wines, raisins, wheat and wool, aggregate over $4,000,000. Assessed valuation for 1891, $41,702,975.

LAKE.

Population, 7,101; chiefly agricultural. It is estimated that the area of valley, or first-class agricultural land, is from 80,000to 100,000 acres. The resources of this county are mostly derived from the crops of wheat, barley, oats, corn, hops and potatoes, from fruit, from sheep and hogs, and from pineries and quicksilver mines. Wine-making, too, is becoming an important industry, and lumber mills are annually increasing in number and power. This county is widely known as the <sup>47</sup> Switzerland of America," and is a famous resort of tourists, and has many health-giving mineral springs. The assessed value of the taxable property in 1891 was $3,864,819. Lakeport, on the western side of the beauliful Clear Lake, is the county seat.

Because it is the most popular and is published in the best agricultural section of Eastern Califor-nia, with no other paper within forty-five miles. It is typographically neat and pleasing in adver-tising and otherwise. It gives local and county news impartially and fairly and the more important happenings from the outside by telegraph on publication day when of sufficient importance. It is clean in character. It goes into nearly every reading home in the county, as well as having a circulation in neighboring sections. As it pays strict attention to local Interests, everybody in Inro reads the REGISTER and it is a constituency worth your securing. We want advertising of the "clean" sort only-no others need apply. ## NEVADA.

Population, 17,369; mining and fruit-growing. Nevada City and Grass Valley are the center of a region whose richness as a gold-producing district is equalled by its horticultural and agricultural productiveness. Oranges are freely grown in Nevada county; the production of pears and apples is immense, and all small fruits and berries thrive well. Hay is one of the staple productions. The lumbering interests of the county are very great, and thrive with unwonted vigor. On the Truckee river alone the year's cut aggregates 32,000,000 feet, while the sales were 3,000,000 feet in excess of the cut. *Assessed valuation of property in the county, $5,933,882.

PLUMAS.

Population, 4,933; mining and lumbering. Grain and vegetables are grown quite extensively in some sections, and this is an important fruit county, orchards many miles in extent making of the foothills a continuous belt of fruit-bearing trees. Although there are districts where logging is carried on, the timber transported by means of flumes and the sawmills furnishing several millions of feet of lumber every year, there are extensive sections where the trees are not yet perceptibly thinned, and it is evident that Plumas for many years will possess a valuable lumber interest. ## SACRAMENTO.

Population, 40,339; agriculture and fruit-growing. Sacramento county doubtless leads all others in the State in the production of orchard fruits, those of the citrus family alone excepted. Large interests are also involved in vineyards. Sacramento City is the county seat, and is also the capital of the State of California. The trade of Sacramento aggregates in the jobbing branches about $60,000,000 annually, and extends throughout all the central and northern and mountain sections, and the adjacent States and Territories. Sacramento is the chief fruit-shipping station of the

SAN DIEGO.

Population, 34,987; fruit-raising and agriculture. There is not a fruit, from the apple and the plum to the banana and the orange, that does not, in some portion of this great section of California, reach a high state of excellence. In oranges and lemons, too, San Diego stands in the front rank. One important industry deserves a special notice. It is the honey business. The annual export is something over 2,000 tons. The largest raisin vineyards in Southern California, or perhaps in the world, are located within this county. Assessed valuation, $28,850,516.

SAN JOAQUIN.

Population, 28,629; agricultural. San Joaquin county contains 800,000 acres of land, the larger portion of which is susceptible of the highest cultivation and very productive. The principal product of the agricultural portion is grain, but many farmers raise a greater variety of crops. The location of Stockton, the county seat, virtually at the head of tide water on the San Joaquin, has always given her citizens water as well as rail communication with San Francisco. A line of steamers plies regularly between Stockton and San Francisco. The railroad facilities are as good PACIFIC STATES NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

OREGON.

Population 313,767. Oregon is a vast territory, extending 360 miles east and west, and 260 miles north and south, an area of 95,274 square miles, composing 60,965,360 acres. The State shows unusual prosperity for the past year, and the outlook for continued increase in population and wealth is excellent. We give brief data of each county in alphabetical order, with list of papers in each.

BAKER.

Population, 6,764; mining and agriculture. The leading and characteristic business of this county is gold mining. Baker county was settled originally by miners, and the mining industry and mining spirit have always dominated the county. The several grains are produced in abundance by soil everywhere potential Vegetables in general variety and excellence are everywhere produced. Stock-raising is, or has been, a more important business in Baker county than agriculture, but with the growth of population the position of these industries is being reversed.

CLATSOP.

Populatian 10,016. The most notable resource of Clatsop county is her timber. Her whole area of about 1,000 square miles is densely covered with trees, which cannot be excelled in any other district. Besides supplying her own mills (three or four in number) Clatsop county furnishes nearly all the logs consumed in the several mills in Portland. The "Oregon lumber," now coming into celebrity in the East, is almost all sawed from timber grown in Clatsop county. There is a very considerable population engaged in the industries of dairying and stock-raising, but the chief industry of Clatsop county is salmon-fishing. There are no less than twenty-four salmon-packing establishments in her limits, affording employment to upwards of 5,000 men, and indirectly to as many more.

COLUMBIA.

Population 5,191. There is scarcely a quarter section of land in the county free from timber, and for the most part the forests are very heavy. While the soil is highly productive, there is as yet little regular farming. Stock-raising and logging are the main productive resources. Columbia county has unequaled facilities for transportation; steamboats connect all its river points with Portland at low rates for freight. ### CROOK.

Population 3,244. Crook county covers an area of about 8,000 square miles. The enormous county is an absolute isolation. General farming has been prosecuted only for local supply, and the county has been given up mainly to the grazing of sheep, cattle and horses. There is, however, much available agricultural land in Crook county.

CURRY.

Population 1,709. Curry county forms the southwest corner of Oregon. The number of acres of improved land is 93,350. The products are too small for enumeration. It is, in fact, but little populated, in 1886 casting about 400 votes.

DOUGLAS.

Population 11,864; agriculture and lumber. Douglas county reaches from the ocean to the mountains—an empire in extent of territory and variety of resources. Improved land, 497,317 acres. At Drain, Wilber and Roseburg there are academies of high grade, the Drain school being chartered by the State as a Normal school.

GILLIAM.

Population 3,600; stock-raising and agriculture. Gilliam's northern end fronts on the Columbia river for a distance of about thirty-one miles. The chief town of Gilliam county is Arlington, which is a new town, with wonderful energy manifested in its rapid and continuous growth in the past three years. It is the depot of a large wool business, and no place in Oregon is more prosperous at this time.

JACKSON.

Population 11,455. Jackson is the most populous and wealthy of the southern counties. The country is especially adapted to fruit. Since the extension of the Oregon and California road in 1884, progress has been wonderful. The range of production includes wool, wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, hay, dairy products, tobacco, hops, fruits, lumber and gold. Mining is an important industry. At Ashland there is a college chartered by the State as a Normal school. Ashland also has a fine water-power, which is practically applied in a woolen mill, flour mill, and sash factory.

THE SEATTLE POST-INTELLIGENCER

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON.

THREE EDITIONS DAILY.

SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

The POST-INTELLIGENCER is the representative journal of Washington. It has also wide circulation in Alaska, Northern Idaho, Oregon and British Columbia. The country is new and rapidly growing in every way. As yet it supplies few of its own necessities by home manufacture, so that its demands for manufactured goods and general merchandise are very large in proportion to its population. Trade has not yet settled into regular channels, and the country affords a fine field for enterprising competition in all lines.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON.

Population 349,516. This State has advanced rapidly during the past two years, both in commerce and agriculture. The greater proportion of industry rests in the counties bordering on Puget Sound, and it is in that portion of the State that the greatest progress has been made. The lumber interest, too, in this section is very great. We give a brief description of all counties in which newspapers are published.

ADAMS.

Population 2,085. The Northern Pacific passes through the entire length of Adams county. But little has been done as yet toward the development of the county, but the population is on the increase, and the outlook for the future is very promising.

ASOTIN.

Population 1,575; agricultural. This is a comparatively new and remote county, dependent mainly upon the river for transportation. The following figures are official, and from the latest returns: Value of land, $261,404; of taxable property, $610,023.

CHEHALIS.

Population 9,226. In this county Gray's Harbor is situated, containing the fertile valley of the Chehalis river, connecting in its eastern part with the Northern Pacific railroad. Value of real property, $1,600,564; total taxable property, $2,303,544. The PACIFIC STATES NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

THE WEST TIMES Reaches the Country Trade.

CIRCULATION 1011. ------

IS AN INCORPORATED CITY of about 1200 people is located on the M. K. & T. Ry, midway between Wacc and Hillsboro: is in McLennan County and surrounded by fine black land prairie, is settled by a thrifty, liberty loving people who, as a rule, are wealthy, and foster any enterprise looking to the higher aims in life.

More than twenty farmers within a radius of five miles of WEST are worth $50,000.00 each.

WEST has a Bank, three solid brick blocks, some of which are two story high, has three large hotels, three fine gins with a capacity of 100 bales per day, two lumber yards, two livery stables, a brick yard that burns and sells each season 1.000,000 brick, has five churches costing $8.-000,00, I. O. O. F., A. F. & A. M. and K. of H. Lodges, and no Saloons.

WEST has three miles of graded streets, owns its own street grader. is out of debt with money in the treasury.

WEST has a magnificent $4,000.00 school building, well finished and furnished, employs five teachers nine months in the year, has a scholastic enrollment of about 265 pupils.

WEST'S best drawing card for a good school is the fact that this is a prohibition town, has no saloons or dens of vice around which to attract young men "like moths 'round a cradle."

A potent factor in bringing about all this is THE WEST TIMES, a five column eight page paper that prints the news and tells the truth. It is fearless and out spoken, has been dubbed THE ARIZONA KICKER OF TEXAS because it pleases to say what it thinks and thinks what it pleases.

Realizing, that to build a town and maintain a good school, takes work THE TIMES works with a vim; for with the School's success comes ours; Selah!

Every family in or near WEST should be a subscriber to THE TIMES. We have worked our way into the hearts of the people until the paper and the town's future prosperity are inseparable and for this reason it is now one of the best advertising mediums in the county. Plant your ads in THE TIMES and send an extra copy back to the "Old States."

Surface generally is a table-land about 4,000 feet above the sea, traversed by nearly parallel mountain ranges, between which are valleys covered with sagebrush and other scanty herbage. The soil, when, irrigated, is fertile, and produces spring wheat, barley, oats, potatoes, butter, hay. wool, etc. There is much good pasturage, and cattle fatten readily upon it. This State lies almost wholly in the "Great Basin," the most arid region of North America. Cotton and sub-tropical fruits do well in all the southern counties. The milling and smelting of ore is the leading manufacturing pursuit. The output of precious metals in 1888 was nearly $12,500,000. The cattle interests of the State rank next in importance to its mineral resources. The wool product in 1887 was 3,000,000 pounds.

ARIZONA.

Population 59,620. Arizona has an area of 113,920 square miles, and is situated in the valley of the Colorado. The soil, even on the alkaline plains, is very fertile when irrigated. The mountainous land is quite well adapted to wool-growing and stock-raising. The principal crops are corn, wheat and barley. There are large deposits of minerals in the Territory. Gold. silver, copper, lead, iron, salt, borax, etc., are abundant, and the mining and the working of gold, silver, copper and lead ores is at present the leading industry. Immense quarries of building stone have recently been opened near Flagstaff, and large quantities shipped to Los Angeles, and used in the construction of many of the substantial buildings that are going up there. All kinds of fruit known to tropical climates reach perfection in the southeast section of the Territory. The city of Phœnix has become quite celebrated as a health resort. The estimated value of all taxable property, taken from the Territorial Board of Equalization, is about $30,000,000.

NEW MEXICO.

NEW MEXICO.

Population 153,593. Agriculture has made rapid strides in this Territory during the past three years; hundreds of miles of irrigating canals having been constructed, bringing under cultivation immense tracts of land. Ample quantities of timber abound in the mountain ranges. The principal varieties are pine. cedar and pinon, the latter being especially valuable for fuel. Fruit-growing in New Mexico has proven an exceedingly profitable occupation, orchards of all varieties being thrifty, free from insects, symmetrical in form, and bearing fruit of a superb flavor. The range of fruits which have been found to thrive in the soil and climate of New Mexico include all those varieties grown in Iowa, Illinois and Ohio, and also many semi-tropical fruits and nuts, including the prune, grape, apricot, peach, fig, almond and peanut. Bernalillo county is rich in agricultural and grazing lands, in quarries of marble and building stone, and deposits of mineral and coal.

BERNALILLO.

Population 20,913. Partly mountainous; soil fertile, when irrigated; gold, silver, lead, iron and copper. Products: wheat corn, wool, wine and fruits; cattle and sheep. The agricultural resources of the county are being rapidly advanced. Albuquerque is the county seat.

UTAH.

Population 207,905. Land area, 82.190 square miles. The surface is very mountainous, interspersed with arid plains, basins and valleys. The grazing and mountain lands comprise about seven-eighths of the Territory. Irrigation is nearly everywhere necessary. Wheat, oats, barley, corn, potatoes, hay and wool are the chief products. Cattle-raising is a profitable industry, and is often successfully carried on where farming is impracticable. Gold and silver are largely produced, as are also lead, iron, copper, coal, and salt. Manufactures are chiefly those of goods needed for home consumption, but of late extensive works for the mining and smelting of ores have been established. Assessed valuation of property in 1889, $51,917,312.

MONTANA.

Population 132,159. Surface generally mountainous, espe c ially in the west. Along the three forks of the Missouri river. as well as elsewhere through the State, there is much undulating prairie, with a fertile soil. The Missouri River is navigable to Fort Benton; the Yellowstone is also navigable. Perhaps nowhere else are such advantages offered to the capitalist, mining operator, stock-raiser and wool-grower as are here found. Very little hay or winter foddering is needed, the stock feeding on the rich grasses, and ranging all winter in the sheltered valleys. Of agricultural staples, spring wheat, potatoes, butter, barley, oats, and vegetables are the most prominent. The chief minerals are gold and silver, of which large quantities are obtained. Leading manufacturing interests are mining, lumber-sawing, quartzmilling and stamping, flour, etc. A superior quality of bituminous coal, in what is said to be one of the largest and most compact coal-fields in the country, is being developed about fifty miles from Billings.

Population 60,705,, with a land area of 97,575 square miles. There are large elevated plateaus or parks of which the principal is the Great Vellowstone or National Park. Pine and spruce timber is widely distributed throughout the mountain regions. Stock-raising, sheep-husbandry and coal-mining are the leading and most remunerative pursuits. Gold and silver are plentiful. There are vast beds of iron ore and plenty of good coal. In 1888 nearly 2,000 miners were employed, the product being 1,455,240 tons. Gypsum, salt, soda, sulphur, copper, lead, tin and other minerals are found. Petroleum seems abundant in central and northern Wyoming. It is produced to some extent. In manufactures, the sawing of lumber and railroad ties, milling of quartz, and railroad repair and machine shops in the towns on the line of the Union Pacific Railroad, occupying the leading places.

COLORADO.

Population 412,198. Colorado has a land area of 103,645 square miles. The surface consists of mountains and parks, foothills and plains. It is intersected by the Sierra Madre range of the Rocky Mountains, among which are several of the highest peaks, including Pike's, Long's and many others. The mountains inclose wonderful valleys or basins, known as parks, which are well timbered. The eastern part of the State is an immense plain, well adapted to stock-raising. Agriculture is limited, as irrigation is necessary to a good production of all crops. Cattle-raising and sheep-farming are the chief agricultural pursuits. Lumbering is an important industry, but the mining of gold, silver and other metals is the chief source of wealth. The several counties in which newspapers are published are as follows:

ARAPAHOE.

Population 132,135. Location, northeast. Area, about 5,000 square miles. Soil, fertile in places; gold and silver near the western border. The chief products are wheat, corn, oats, butter, hay and live-stock. Large amount of manufacturing carried on at Denver, the county seat and capital of the State.

TEXAS.

Population 2,235,543. The area of Texas is 252,514 square miles-the largest of any State in the Union. The chief crops are cotton, corn and wheat. Sugar-cane is raised chiefly on the rivers, near their mouths, and rice in the southeast. Oats, barlev. tobacco, and sweet and white potatoes are grown to a moderate extent. Swine thrive on the abundant mast of the forests. The chief industries in the west are stock-raising and woolgrowing. Figs and oranges thrive in the south. Manufacturing interests are increasing. There are immense deposits of copper along the line of the Texas Pacific Railroad. Coal, timber, limestone, soapstone and iron are found in the same region. There is a field of bituminous coal, about 6,000 square miles in extent, and a field of anthricite in Brown, Coleman, Comanche, and Hamilton counties. Salt is produced in large quantities from springs in El Paso, Lampasas, and Llano counties; asphaltum is abundant. Large quantities of saltpeter are found in Blanco and Burnet counties; marble and roofing slate, grindstone, pot and fire-clays, marl and other fertilizers, are also found in great quantities. The counties, with list of papers in each, are as follows:

KANSAS.

Kansas was organized as a territory in 1820. A prolonged struggle was had over the slavery question and it was not admitted as a State until 1861. The richness of its soil has made it one of the great agricultural States of the Nation. The Pacific Railroad system assisted immigration into all parts of the State and aided greatly in its development. It has a rolling surface well adapted to tillage or grazing. Timber is scanty and of voluntary growth. Coal is mined in the western half of the State. All the cereals are produced in abundance, also fruits and sugar from sorghum. The State has within its limits about 10,000 miles of railway. Manufactures are increasing yearly. The State has an area of 82.080 square miles. Its extreme breadth is 400 miles and its length 200 miles. Population 1,427,096.

PACIFIC STATES NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

Are you aware that the KANSAN is one of the best mediums in the State? It reaches a large territory and circulates among a class of people that have money to buy. Rates are equitable, and will be sent, together with a sample copy, on applieation. Correspondence solicited.

418

In the country newspaper you have a reliable and effective friend that does its mission at more family firesides than do many of the metropolitan dailies.

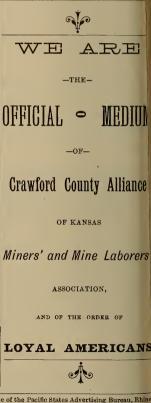

Our climate is finer than that of any other section of United States. It is a country where pulmonary and kindred diseases are well nigh unknown.

The KANSAN circulation has a paidup circulation. Every subscription is stopped immediately on its expiration if not renewed at once.

If you want to reach farmers' families in adjacent sections you can do it through the columns of the KANSAN.

If you have anything to sell that commands trade outside of your own city, use the country newspaper.

It is a known fact that a high-class weekly is read carefully. A daily is glanced at and tossed aside.

This paper is kept on file at the Branch Office of the Pacific States Advertising Bureau, Rhine lander Building, Duane and Rose Streets, New York, where contracts for advertising may be made

PACIFIC STATES NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

. AZUSA, CALIFORNIA .

The Azusa Valley is one of the finest valleys in the State, as regards climate and productiveness. It has an elevation of from 300 to 700 feet, and is about ten miles long and five miles wide. Azusa is headquarters of the mining district of the San Gabriel cañon, which is also a delightful health resort and sportsman's haven. The most of this valley is entirely free from frost, and protected from the cold northern winds by the Sierra Madre foothills on one side, and on the east by the San José hills. We are at a good distance from the ocean, yet in sight of it, and get the benefit of the cool and invigorating breezes. At the present time there are some good real estate bargains.

Write the SEMI-WEEKLY AZUSA VALLEY NEWS for further information, and special advertising rates to get before a thrifty and industrious people. Glendora, Covina and Vineland are the sister towns in an orange frostless belt.

Midwinter Fair visitors respectfully invited to call this way and investigate.

This paper is kept on file at the Branch Office of the Pacific States Advertising Bureau, Rhinelander Building, Duane and Rose Streets, New York where contracts for advertising may be made.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

This province is vast in its dominion, and is but sparsely settled, its area being nearly 400,000 square miles, and its population about 59,000, of which two-thirds are Indians. Victoria is the provincial Government seat. The chief industries of British Columbia are gold and silver mining and salmon canning. Its chief products are furs, lumber and oil. Much of the territory is mountainous, but some of the islands and the southwest portion of the mainland have considerable arable lands. At and near Nanaimo are situated some of the largest coal-mines on the Pacific Coast. The Canadian Pacific Railway, terminating at Vancouver, is doing much toward advancing the interests of this province.

ALASKA.

Population 31,795. This vast territory, with an area of more than 500,000 square miles, has been but little explored except along the sea coast and among its many small islands. The chief industries are sealing, fur-trading among the Indians, fishing, canning and mining, the last named rapidly increasing. Sitka is the capital city.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

The group of islands that constitutes the Hawaiian Kingdom are, and always will be, most closely connected with California. They are but a couple of thousand miles distant from Sau Francisco, whence they obtain almost the whole of their supplies, both the luxuries and necessaries of life. California, in return, takes the whole of her produce, the chief of which is sugar. The principal domestic exports from Honolulu are sugar, molasses, paddy, rice, coffee, fungus, bananas, hides and wool. Of these sugar, molasses, paddy, rice and bananas are the chief. There are nearly a hundred sugar plantations distributed throughout the group, and there is still much uncultivated land capable of producing sugar, which, however, would be rather expensive to clear. Free schools are established throughout the group, where the children of the natives, Chinese, Portuguese, English or Americans can receive a common-school English education. In the more important centers there are schools, both public and private, where the higher branches are taught, and a thorough commercial and classical grounding can be obtained. Churches are numerous and well attended, as are most church gatherings . and social entertainments. Population, about 90,000.

EXPLANATION.

Since the preceding pages of this book were put in print the following tables, arranged alphabetically, by towns or cities, have been revised and corrected, as far as possible, to date. Any discrepancies between the figures in the body of the work and the tables, and the names of any papers found in the tables which are not found in the body of the book, and vice versa, are owing to these corrections. It must be borne in mind that papers are constantly suspending and new ones being established.

All these newspapers will be found on file at our New York office, Rhinelander Building, corner Rose and Duane streets, where we are prepared to take advertisements for any or all of them on favorable terms.

The Sprague Independent

A Purely Local Newspaper.

The First of the Kind Ever Established in Washington.

Sprague is the county seat of Lincoln county. Lincoln county is in the center of the famous "Big Bend" wheat-raising section of Eastern Washington. Sprague is the supply point for the Big Bend. The farmers of the Big Bend read their home papers, and patronize the advertisers whose ads appear therein. The INDEPENDENT is the best advertising medium in the county. It is supposed to be a four-page paper, but in the last twelve issues of 1893 there were 96 pages of the INDEPENDENT published, making it an average eight-page sheet. Send for sample copies.
